Edinburgh Napier University: focused on employability

As a truly international university, hosting over 17,000 students from more than 115 countries, with one of the best graduate employability rates in the UK, Edinburgh Napier is the perfect university for international students looking to obtain a world class degree and first class employment.

Employability

As a modern and innovative university, Edinburgh Napier University offers industry-focused courses that provide the skills and confidence required for a successful career in today's global market.

The University has an innovative approach to teaching, and many of Edinburgh Napier's degrees include a work placement up to a full academic year in length, where students can gain valuable professional experience.

The University is consistently ranked as one of the top universities in the UK for graduate employability, ranked 20th in 2012/13 (Destination of Leavers from Higher Education), and many former students have gone on to work for some of the world's best known organisations, including HSBC, Microsoft, L'Oreal, Accenture, BP, Ernst and Young, and many more.

Placements and Confident Futures

Edinburgh Napier University places a strong emphasis on supporting students throughout their time at the University to provide students with the skills and experience required to be successful in their chosen career paths. Many degrees include paid, credit-bearing placement options allowing students to put their learning into practice and gain valuable work experience.

The Confident Futures personal development programme offers a variety of free interactive workshops to help students maximise their employability skills and prepare individuals for the world of work. Students can choose from an extensive programme of workshops covering areas such as assertiveness, networking, goal setting, effective communication and creative problem solving.

World-class university

Edinburgh Napier University is consistently ranked as one of the top modern universities in the UK. Many of the University's academic departments are also ranked as some of the highest in the UK, demonstrating the quality of teaching, research and employment opportunities available to students:

- Ranked 16th in the UK for Hospitality, Event Management and Tourism (Guardian, 2015).
- Ranked 7th for Engineering (Guardian, 2015).
- Ranked top 50 for Business Studies (Sunday Times 2014).

Facilities

As a modern university, Edinburgh Napier University is home to three state-of-the-art campuses, all featuring world class facilities. It is one of only two universities based in Edinburgh city centre. The Craiglockhart campus is home to the Business School, which is the largest in Scotland with over 7,000 students. The Merchiston campus has recently benefited from significant investment and is home to our Engineering and Computing students. Life Sciences students study at the Sighthill campus, which houses state-of-the-art laboratories and excellent sport facilities.

EIC: your pathway to a degree from Edinburgh Napier University

EIC is an Associate College of Edinburgh Napier University providing access to programmes which lead to internationally recognised Honours and Master’s degree awards. EIC provides a fantastic learning environment to start your UK study and will equip you with the skills and experience needed to excel in your studies.

Undergraduate programmes

EIC offers access to a wide range of undergraduate programmes in Business, Computing, Engineering, Life Sciences, Tourism, Festival and Events Management. EIC offers access to postgraduate programmes with entry through our Pre-Master’s stage which lead to: Accounting and Finance, Business and Management, Tourism and Festivals and Events Management, Film and MBA. With three intakes per year you have the flexibility to start your studies at the most suitable time.

An undergraduate programme is a single course comprising of a number of study stages. After successfully completing the four year programme you will be awarded a Bachelor’s degree with Honours from Edinburgh Napier University. You also have the option of graduating with a Bachelor’s degree after three years of study. This programme structure allows you to start your university studies directly after High School and the Scottish education system means you do not need to complete a Foundation course.

In your first stage (Year 1) at EIC you will experience University life, but with smaller class sizes and additional academic contact hours. The learning experience at EIC will develop your knowledge and understanding of your chosen subject and prepare you for Year 2 at the University.

Postgraduate programme

The postgraduate programme is a single course comprising two stages of study. When you successfully complete the programme, you will be awarded a Master’s degree from Edinburgh Napier University – a qualification that is highly sought after by employers.

Our Pre-Master’s is Stage 1 of the postgraduate programme. It is designed to prepare international students who do not qualify for direct entry to Edinburgh Napier University Master’s degrees.

Undertaking the Pre-Master’s stage will allow you to adjust to the rigorous research and independent study requirements of a postgraduate degree and help you get the most out of your master’s studies.

Assessment for most modules is continuous, and includes examinations, assignments and a dissertation.

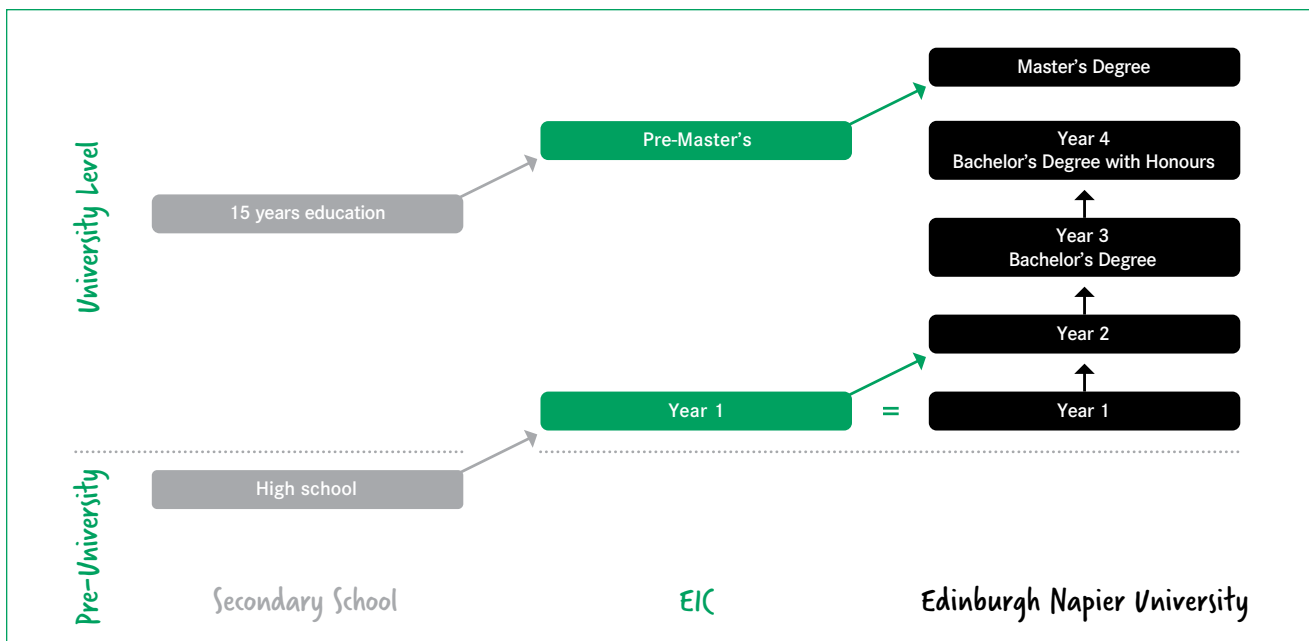

EIC is committed to providing access to educational programmes with exceptional student support services. With EIC you have the best chance of academic and personal success.

English language

English language courses are available for those students that need to improve their English before enrolling on an undergraduate or postgraduate programme. These courses are taught at Edinburgh Napier University.

There are three English Language courses available, for 6 weeks, 12 weeks and 47 weeks depending on your level of English.

You can start Intensive English Language in September, February or June.

Our commitment to student support

At EIC we understand that moving to the UK to study is a big step and we are committed to helping you settle into your new life in Edinburgh. As an EIC student, you will have access to both EIC and Edinburgh Napier University services.

Academic support

Studying in the UK may be different from your previous study. Our dedicated team of academic professionals and support staff will guide and encourage you throughout your studies to enable you to succeed in your chosen pathway.

At EIC you will benefit from small class sizes and additional one to one tuition if required. Our staff will also support you with IT and study skills.

Personal support

Our student support team will help you with any non-academic needs you may have from opening a bank account, registering with a local doctor to settling into the College. EIC have a dedicated emergency contact telephone number for you, making help available 24 hours a day, seven days a week.

Student mentoring

To help support students throughout their studies, Edinburgh Napier has a number of programs and drop in clinics in place where students can get help and advice on issues such as; accommodation, setting study goals, immigration and visa regulations, health and welfare, careers guidance and making the most of your time at Edinburgh Napier.

Orientation and enrolment

The orientation program at EIC is a great opportunity for you to make new friends and meet the staff at the College. During orientation you will find out valuable information and guidance on University procedures, studying in the UK, course information, living in Edinburgh, immigration regulations, health care and welfare support.

Enrolment at EIC takes place at the very beginning of the semester. Once you have enrolled you can join your classmates and will have full access to both EIC and Edinburgh Napier University facilities including; 24 hour computer suites, library resources and student support.

Student Representative Council

Each semester Student Representatives are chosen by their classmates to represent all students on issues such as; time tabling, exam schedules, assessment methods, sports and social activities and student grievances. This is a great way for your voice to be heard, allowing the Student Representatives to raise any concerns in a constructive way with staff at EIC.

Clubs and societies

Edinburgh Napier has a very active students association (NSA) who will support students throughout their time at university. The NSA organise a number of social events providing fantastic opportunities to make new friends and become involved in a number of sports clubs and societies such as; hockey, athletics, photography and much more.

Edinburgh: Scotland's capital city

Consistently voted the best city in the UK*, Edinburgh is a world famous tourist and study destination, famous around the world for its history, beauty and high quality education.

Scotland's capital city

As the second most visited city in the UK†, Edinburgh offers everything that a capital city should offer; shopping, famous sporting stadiums, restaurants, cinemas, cafes, bars and much more. At the same time, it is the perfect student city; compact, and home to 100,000 students studying in the city – this makes Edinburgh a safe and cost effective city in which to live and study.

An international city

Edinburgh is an international travel destination connecting the capital city to the rest of the world. With direct flights to Paris, Amsterdam, Qatar and London from the airport located 10 miles outside the city centre, Edinburgh is easily accessible. Once you have arrived in the city you will find it easy to get around on foot or by public transport.

What else?

During the summer festival season, Edinburgh becomes the 'Arts Capital of the World'. The city hosts a variety of festivals each year, catering for fans of everything from comedy, film and literature to food and music. There is something in Edinburgh for everyone! Edinburgh is an excellent hub from which to discover and explore the Highland of Scotland where students can enjoy outdoor activities such as skiing, sailing and mountaineering.

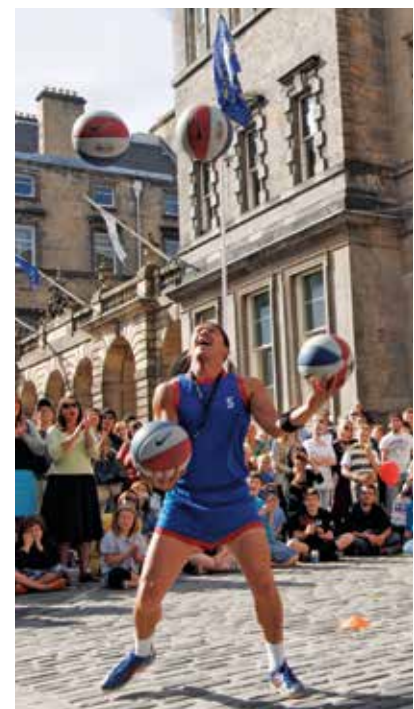

Things to do

- Walk up the famous Royal Mile to Edinburgh Castle, Scotland's most visited attraction.
- Visit the Palace of Holyroodhouse, the official residence of the Royal family in Scotland.
- Take an Edinburgh City bus tour.
- Go shopping along the famous Princes Street.
- Relax and take it easy in the Meadows city park.
- Discover Edinburgh's past on one of the city's underground ghost tours.
- Watch Scotland's national rugby team at their home ground Murrayfield Stadium.

Why study your Pre-Master's at EIC?

Because it helps you:

- prepare for postgraduate level study
- if you come from a different academic background
- if you do not meet the university's direct entry requirements
- if you have been away from studies for a period of time.

A Postgraduate degree from Edinburgh Napier University will enable you to:

- graduate from one of the top ranked UK universities for employability
- enhance your future job opportunities
- study at a world class university in one of Europe's most popular tourist destinations
- potentially specialise in a different and new area of study.

Stage	Location	Duration	Intakes	Structure	Assessment
Pre-Master's	EIC at Edinburgh Napier University	One semester (12 weeks)	September, February and June	While at EIC, you will study a series of modules that will prepare you for a seamless progression to your chosen taught Master's degree.	Assessment for most modules is continuous, and consists of examinations, assignments and case study analysis.
Master's	Edinburgh Napier University	One academic year (12 months or 15 months depending on intake).	September and January	The Master's programme will offer you the opportunity to build on what you have learned during the Pre-Master's programme and extend your professional understanding about your particular area of study. A Master's degree usually consists of a series of specialist modules in structured class, seminar or tutorial formats. A short research thesis component may be included and this prepares students for what is required for a research Master's degree. However, most coursework Master's degrees will have a final major project or dissertation component.	Modules will be assessed through examinations, assignments, essays or seminar performance. Assessment may also include individual or group projects and presentations. For most Master's degrees, preparing and submitting a major project or dissertation will form a large part of the assessment and final grade.

* June intake only.

† Students who wish to progress to the MBA require 2 years of work experience.

Postgraduate programme outlines

Accounting and Finance

Edinburgh Napier University's Accounting and Finance degrees are accredited by the UK's major accounting institutes and give access to a wide variety of related careers. Based at the stunning Craiglockhart campus students can enjoy a blend of old and new. Housed within historic buildings are state-of-the-art facilities designed to give students the best learning environment possible.

Employment and career options

A postgraduate degree in Accounting and Finance will help to open opportunities with traditional accounting firms, commercial organisations or the public sector, including accounting, banking and general management positions.

On this programme students learn the principles of accounting and finance, working in teams that mirror the business working environment. Students are encouraged to develop critical evaluation skills that allow them to analyse and apply financial knowledge to areas of business.

Teamwork skills are emphasised, as students work collaboratively with fellow students from a variety of disciplines and backgrounds. Research and presentation skills will be developed throughout the taught modules as students prepare for their final dissertation.

Film

Located within the school of Arts and Creative Industries and taught at the Screen Academy Scotland, Edinburgh Napier University's degree in Film has been designed to help students embark on a career as a professional film-maker in disciplines such as Directing, Cinematography, Editing, Sound or Producing.

Employment and career options

On completion of this course, graduates are expected to be ready to take up an entry level job in the industry, or, in the case of outstanding students, set themselves up as an independent practitioner as either director, producer, cinematographer, editor or sound engineer. Screen Academy graduates have had their films screened at festivals in cities around the world, including Venice, Beijing, Kolkata and Edinburgh. Many have gone on to win awards and commissions for TV and feature films projects.

Teaching is through a combination of collaborative, shared modules, and modules that are geared to each individual discipline. Coursework consists of a large number of practical exercises and projects that allow students to deepen their own technical, creative and professional film making skills. The year's work culminates in a major project module in which students will work, in their chosen discipline, on one or more short fiction film.

Tourism, Festival and Events Management

With its numerous attractions and world-famous events, Edinburgh is a well-known location for visitors from all over the globe. Tourism-based companies succeed here, many of them with worldwide relationships which is why Edinburgh is an excellent place to research travel and leisure promotion. Edinburgh Napier University's Tourism, Festivals and Events Management programmes are taught within the context of work with many lecturers maintaining their involvement in the industry. The University is currently ranked 16th in the UK in this area (Guardian 2014).

Employment and career options

Students with a Master's degree in this discipline are in demand for senior management roles in a variety of sectors including destination development, airlines, hospitality industry and public sector organisations.

Edinburgh Napier University offers students tuition that is supported by highly experienced teaching staff and strong industry links. Postgraduate degrees combine theory and practice to create courses that offer the specific skills that are sought after by employers. Industry leaders are often engaged to present guest lectures, and visits to relevant businesses are also offered. Developing students, both professionally and personally, is at the heart of all learning at Edinburgh Napier and is embedded in the approach to Learning, Teaching and Assessment. The University places the employability of graduates at the core of everything and is regarded as one of the top 20 Universities in the UK for graduate employability (DLHE 2012/13).

English language requirements

EIC provides access to a range of study options to suit students' individual English language needs. EIC will advise on the most appropriate study option based on previous English results, as well as UK Government requirements.

To enter an undergraduate or Pre-Master's programme at EIC, students must be able to demonstrate they have a suitable level of English proficiency. Students can do this by obtaining relevant results as shown in the table below:

Undergraduate and postgraduate programmes
IELTS	Overall score of 5.5 with 5.5 in each competency
Pearsons PTE	Overall score of 51 with 51 in each competency

We can also accept equivalent English language qualifications. Please contact our Admission Office at admission@eic.napier.ac.uk for further information.

Pre-sessional English

Students who are unable to meet EIC's English language entry requirements have the option to study pre-sessional English at the University. The English language courses take place at Edinburgh Napier University's Craiglockhart campus, and successful completion of the English language course guarantees a place on programme of choice. Students studying a one semester pre-sessional course will be given one visa for the duration of their English and academic study.

By completing an English language course you will:

- increase your understanding of English
- improve your pronunciation, grammatical skills and reading comprehension.
- develop a broad, academically useful vocabulary
- improve your ability to participate in seminars and take useful lecture notes
- build on your writing skills for essays, reports and assignments
- become confident in public speaking and delivering presentations

- develop research skills so you can read academic texts, journals and papers efficiently and effectively
- develop the independent study skills required for success in a university environment

Pre-sessional English language is offered directly prior to each academic intake. Following your English language classes of a minimum 20 hours per week and satisfactory completion you will progress to the academic part of your programme at EIC
